Here are some more of the Monster Girls Encyclopedia:

Jurougumo

Arachne Family Insect type

Habitat.....Zipangu Region, Forested Areas, Human Settlements

Disposition...Gentle, Violent, Lustful

Diet.....Carnivorous, wild animals, etc

A type of Arachne that only inhabits the land of Zipangu. Besides inhabiting forested areas, they also transform into people and live in human settlements. They have a calm personality, which is rare in the Arachne family. They almost never aggressively assault humans. They are very friendly to people, especially to men they fancy. They take a very flirtatious attitude.

As written above, they're a docile monster, but that's only their face during the daytime. By daylight, they approach men and try to engender feelings of fondness. They are masters of the art of seduction. More likely than not, men solicited by them will gladly accept. However, once cohabitation begins in the end period, when the sun goes down they expose their night face. At night, they are extremely ferocious, binding men with the threads produced by their bodies. Until dawn comes, or the man faints from exhaustion, he will be at the mercy of this sadistic monster, being repeatedly raped. Once the sun comes up, they return to their gentle daytime face, however most of the men who have had relations with them become spineless. Night after night, they will continue to be raped helplessly.

Again, in the same way as Arachne, she uses the threads produced inside her body to build a nest, and is very good at sewing. Garments made from their threads are a luxury item, and fetch an extremely high price at market.

Inari

Wolf Family Beastman Type

Habitat.....Zipangu Region, forests, mountainous areas, human settlements

Disposition...Devoted, Lustful

Diet.....Omnivorous, they love meat.

A Beastman type monster with characteristics of a fox that only inhabits the land of Zipangu. They live in forests and mountains, but many of them also change into people and live in human settlements. They're a subspecies of youko, but compared to the youko, they're well behaved. They almost never assault humans. They are extremely friendly to people. Normally, they are very graceful, and they become devoted to the men they love. Lots of men have been captivated by them, choosing to become a married couple and live together.

In this way, they look very well behaved at the surface level. But their level of sexual desire is no different from that of the youko. They are extremely lustful. For the most part, they don't assault their husbands if they aren't in the mood. However, they are excellent at seduction and putting them in the mood, and this often leads to them having their own way. Their tails are symbols of high demonic power. They take in sperm through intercourse with men, storing it as demonic power in their tails. This can continue until they have a maximum of nine tails. You can tell how powerful her lust is by the number of tails. Those individuals with nine tails are remarkably lustful and seductive.

Just as in the case of the youko, the more tails she has, the harder it is for her to contain the vast demonic power within herself. It is continually released around her. They are masters of controlling demonic power, different from the youko which haphazardly releases its power all around. They only channel their demonic power into their own husband. A man infused with demonic power is robbed of his reason and consumed by lust, so it usually results in intercourse with her right there on the spot. Individuals having 9 tails are known as "Kyubi" foxes, and they are said to have almost god-like power. As one might assume, their husbands are infused with vast amounts of demonic energy. The kyubi fox herself is extremely lustful, so they often end up copulating all day long.

Baphomet

Baphomet family Demon-beast type
Habitat.....Demon Realm
Disposition.....Strong-willed
Diet.....Omnivorous, mainly preferring the flesh of beasts, human semen

A type of demon-beast that lurks in the demon realm. Their outward appearance is that of a little girl, but of all the monsters, they possess the most strength. They serve as the leaders of the pagan cult "Sabbath", commanding several witches. They seduce women with tales of "eternal youth" and "extreme power", granting them some of their own power, and, in the process, changing them into witches.

Normally, they're at the demon lord's castle in the demon realm, so very rarely are they ever seen. However, there are a few incidents of them assaulting men, taking in semen through sexual intercourse. In the same manner as the rest of the upper rank monsters, they seek out superior men as husbands. After that, they almost never release a man. However, in many cases, men assaulted by her actually come to adore the witches and baphomets. This will cause her to eventually run off somewhere and disappear.

They regularly gather their witch underlings and hold an assembly known as "Black Mass" For information concerning "Black Mass", reference the witch's page. As for the teachings of "Sabbath" which they lead, the first is to be devoted to pleasure as a monster. The other has something to do with the reason why they and their witch underlings uniformly take the form of a little girl, but there are no confirmed details available.

Witch

Majin Family Majin Type

Habitat.....Deep within forests, Human Settlements, etc

Disposition...Various

Diet.....The same things as ordinary people plus men's semen.

A type of majin possessing a lot of magic power, and the ability to cast a variety of spells. Originally they were human women but they sought out "eternal youth" and "extreme power." Receiving the power of baphomet, they've become monsters. Since they were originally people to begin with, most of them live mixed in with people. Their personalities are very close to human, but they have been indoctrinated with baphomet's ideology. This compels them to cast bewitching spells, do experiments, promote the cult "Sabbath", and kidnap men.

Furthermore, they all appear like little girls for some reason. They never age any further than that. Most of them also have childlike behavior and attitudes, but a lot of them are actually very old and possess huge amounts of magic power. So, don't let them catch you off guard.

They take in semen through sexual intercourse with men, replenishing and empowering their magic. For that reason, once they've taken a liking to a man, they assault and force him to be bound as a familiar.

Also of note, they periodically gather before baphomet, and hold an assembly called "Black Mass." At this assembly, they have an orgy of pleasures. They discipline and train rebellious familiars while indoctrinating men and women in the ideology of "Sabbath." All have been gathered from many different lands specifically for the day.

Dullahan

Dullahan Family Undead Type

Habitat.....Demon Realm

Disposition.....Strong-willed, Stubborn, Calm (meek, lustful)

Diet.....Human Semen

A demonic knight who has a grotesque figure, its head has been severed from its body. It inhabits the demon realm. Because of its identifying feature, it's also known as the "headless knight." They are the prized avant-guard of the demon lord's knights. They are extremely loyal, and possess exceptional military prowess. In the left schematic, they hold their head with their left arm, but most of the times they appear, they put their head on their body, so it's often hard to even realize that they're dullahan.

Men's semen is what fuels them, but they don't aggressively attack. They are very intellectual. They store all the semen they've ever collected inside their bodies, and use their head as a lid, so they can get by normally even with a very low amount of semen collection. However, being dullahan, their heads come off very easily. When this happens, their pent up desire, emotion, and true intentions are spilled out along with all the semen. Because of this, when their head is in place, they are stubborn and intellectual, but once the head comes off, it's a whole different ball game! They change to having a meek, lustful personality. If one ever encounters a dullahan, be sure to take advantage. Knock off her head, and you can end the fight. However, the semen will spill out, and she'll become hungry. As noted above, her personality will change and she'll probably assault you right then and there.

And another thing, they can appear out of nowhere and kidnap a man they are fond of. When they show up for this purpose, they will give you a designated time. But even if you try to run or hide when the time comes, your chances are slim. There hasn't even been a single case of a man escaping their grasp.

Queen Slime

Slime Family Semiliquid Type

Habitat..... Inhabits open places like plains and meadows

Disposition....Simple, Meek

Diet..... Human Semen, Sweat, Saliva, etc.

These kinds of slimes are said to be the leaders of slimes, as can be inferred from the word "Queen." The "queen" which is the main body is found at the center, surrounded by several divisions who appear to be "servants." It almost looks like a group of slimes close together, but it's actually a single monster. They have a flaw in the ability to divide which is typically possessed by slimes. They can't store up sufficient nutrients while dividing. As a result, they have become bloated. The divisions have different abilities than the main body, but all are under the control of the "queen", which is the main body. Their consciousnesses, thoughts, and memories are all shared in common.

In the same way as other slimes, they are fueled by men's semen. Once they've spotted prey, they use their sticky body to wrap around a man and initiate sexual intercourse, taking in semen. But because a part of the main body, the "queen" is bloated, her movement is extremely slow and sluggish. For that reason, when initiating sexual intercourse they send out their "servants" to charge in aggressively, insuring that sexual union takes place. Because of how immense its body is, it is much more greedy than a typical slime. Once a man is taken in by her, his fate is to spend an eternity continuously having sex as part of her harem.

Queen Slimes who continue to have sex with men grow in such a manner that they become almost like a village of slimes. Then they are referred to as "Slime Kingdoms". As the size of the body of the queen itself becomes more and more immense, the intelligence of her divisions sharply rises. Divisions placed outside of "Slime Kingdom" are sent to gather food for the captured men. Surprisingly, they are even known to barter with merchants. However, no matter how intelligent they appear to be, their actions are fundamentally driven by instinct. The drive to feed (have sex), and the drive to further expand "Slime Kingdom." Most of the goods they trade with merchants are medicines or items that increase the spiritual energy of men.

Minotaurus

Minotaurus Family Beastman Type

Habitat.....Plains, Caves, and Dungeons like Labyrinths

Disposition.....Strong-willed, Ferocious

Diet.....Various meats, mainly prefers meat.

A kind of beastman monster that possesses characteristics of a cow. It's also a monster warrior that possesses immense strength, able to swing its massive weapon around effortlessly. It's personality is extremely rough, it doesn't think things through, instead being driven solely by emotion. Thus, it is an extremely dangerous monster.

It's extremely violent, and when it eyes a man that strikes its fancy, it rushes him almost like it's doing a charging attack, and forcibly initiates sexual intercourse. Once they capture a man, they enjoy frequently raping him. They enjoy furious sex, and will put a man through the ordeal until he collapses and passes out. Also of note, they get aroused when they see anything red, and become even more violent, so if you're wearing red clothing, being targeted by them is almost a sure thing. One must be careful.

As stated, they are extremely dangerous monsters. However, many men actually encounter them while they're asleep. Most of their daily schedule is actually occupied by sleep. After feeding, and after having had intercourse with their prey, most of them just fall asleep on the spot. At this point, they won't awaken from small things. Also, they tend to get irritated with other things quickly. It's rare for them to have any interest in anything other than eating, sex, or sleep.

Amazoness

Succubus Family Demon Type

Habitat.....Forest

Disposition.....Strong-willed , lustful

Food.....Human semen

A type of succubi who live by making individual villages, deep within forests. They were originally an all female tribe called "Amazoness." When the new demon lord came to power, there was an invasion by succubi. Almost all of the tribe's women were transformed into succubi, and now they're mostly treated as a kind of monster. Almost all of them are raised to be warriors from early childhood. They possess an excellent physique, and unsurpassed fighting prowess. Their society is matriarchal. Their views are exactly the opposite of most people's. Women are the ones who take up arms and fight, becoming warriors. They protect men and the younger warriors, who are regarded as frail and weak. Men only exist to look after their homes while they're away, or provide semen for them when they come back from war, or the hunt.

They periodically attack human settlements when they go "man hunting" This is their way of finding a husband. Once they've taken a liking to a man, they will kidnap him and bring him back to their village as a husband. An Amazoness who has succeeded at getting a man in this way will be regarded as an adult, regardless of her actual age, and be treated as an elite warrior. If a human were to wander into their village, if it were a man, the immature Amazonesses would stage a "man hunt" on the spot; if it were a woman, they would capture her and do the same thing as a succubus. After transferring demonic power into her through sexual relations and converting her into a succubus, they would begin training her as a warrior. Furthermore, if a man and woman happened to wander into the village together, the woman would be considered as having already succeeded in capturing a man. She would be very much welcomed as a superior warrior candidate, and be given very thorough warrior training.

They have a peculiar set of values, and prefer to have intercourse in the presence of others. They like to show off when they violate their husbands, to reveal their strength to other Amazonesses and to assert their claims of ownership over their men.

Leanan Sidhe

Fairy Family

Fairy Type

Habitat.....Forests, Human Settlements

Disposition.....Devoted, Meek

Diet.....Great Works of Art

A type of fairy with a peculiar personality. It lives in forests with other kinds of fairies, but a few are also known to change into human form and live in human settlements from time to time. It loves works of art like pictures, music, and stories. Charmed by those, it appears before humans.

They have an extremely unique diet. They are fueled by touching great works of art. Also, they are very aggressive in romantic pursuits. When they find a male artist they like, they will actively try to seduce him. They have the body of a little girl, but a subtle charm magic is always being released from their body, so the men they target always feel extremely attracted to them. It is extremely difficult to elude their seduction. Also, a certain number of Leanan Sidhe have been twisted by the influence of the succubi, causing them to turn violent. So there are some who will assault men, forcing intercourse.

A man who has sex with a Leanan Sidhe has his creative abilities and talents for art skyrocket. Thanks to this power, most such men have become rich and famous. However, their minds are gradually twisted by the charm magic. Eventually, they can think of nothing other than her, and producing works of art to give to her. Eventually, the fame brought about by their works becomes a curse, and they go off somewhere with her and disappear. According to one explanation, they have been taken away to the "Kingdom of Fairies." It is said that once there, they will produce works of art for her, and continue to make love exclusively.

Angel

Succubus Family (Formerly "Angel") Angel Type

Habitat.....Heaven

Disposition..Devoted

Diet.....Human Semen

Servants of the god worshiped at churches, possessing beautiful white wings. They dwell in heaven. On very rare occasions they are sent out to human settlements as the messengers of God. Other than that, they are sent to accompany church expeditions sent out to slay monsters.

They are very merciful and compassionate, having a strong fundamental distaste for fighting, but they will loyally uphold the teachings of God. To that end, they are very abstemious, and they frown upon the passions of humans and monsters. In fact, they will mete out punishment in the name of God for any perceived infractions.

They were not demons to begin with, but after being warped by the demonic power of the succubi, they came to desire men. Thus, they are treated as monsters. From birth, angels have divine protection, because of this, they have a high resistance to the demonic power of the succubi, such that they are never fully transformed. Normally they don't grow the kinds of horns and tails that are typically found in succubi. But mentally, they've been violated and twisted by the power. They approve the passions of humans and monsters, as though they have completely forgotten the teachings of God. They have the succubus' instinct to seek out men, so they begin to frequently visit human settlements.

The original role of the angels was to reward people for their good deeds by giving them happiness. However, upon receiving the power of the succubi, they were strongly imprinted with the notion that sexual pleasure itself brings about true happiness in men. In order to make the men they like happy, they assault them and have sexual intercourse. Once they've targeted a man, they act extremely devoted, but their sex acts are all the same as the other monsters. Half of the interactions are one sided, and mostly forced.

They're not aware of having any sexual desire of their own. They firmly believe that their sole purpose is to please men, and this is the driving force behind their behavior. Once they've finally become aware of their own personal desire for pleasure, they are completely transformed into succubi know as "dark angels."

Dark Angel

Succubus Family Angel Type

Habitat.....Pandemonium

Disposition.....Lustful

Diet.....Human Semen

An angel who has completely transformed into a succubus. Their pure white wings have been warped by the power of the succubi, turning black in the process. They are completely depraved, and aside from appearances, have nothing in common with angels whatsoever. The sole principle guiding their actions is indulgence. They live for pleasure, both giving and receiving. They love human desire. Whenever they find a human or angel with a negative opinion about sex, they seduce them with well constructed arguments, and finally give them pleasure. They want others to fall as they have fallen. They're monsters, but they're not under the command of the demon king. They are said to be the servants of one known as "The Fallen God."

When they find a man they like, they assault him and have sexual intercourse in order to make him fall into depravity. They possess the unique ability to find out about men's sexual tastes and fetishes through the act of sexual intercourse itself. They may become sadistic or masochistic, in order to match the desires of a given man. Men who continue to copulate with them eventually have their mind irrevocably warped. Such a man is unable to think of anything other than his desire to be with his dark angel. Of course, that is their ultimate wish. They want men to give in to desire, and become completely corrupted. That is what pleases them most.

It is said that they dwell in a place known as "Pandemonium." Once she has completely corrupted a man, a dark angel brings her victim to this place. It is a place brought into existence by the power of "The Fallen God," where time and space are distorted. It's a special dimension where it's like time has stood still, and there's no starvation or aging. It is here in this perpetual moment that eternal copulation takes place with the men who were taken. They just continue to indulge in pleasure indefinitely.

Orc

Orc Family Beastman Type

Habitat.....Mountainous Areas

Disposition....Lustful (Strong-willed, Ferocious, Mischievous or Timid and Devoted)

Diet.....Omnivorous, mainly preferring the flesh of beasts.

A type of beastman monster that has characteristics of a pig. They live in groups, often found in mountainous regions. They are extremely ferocious monsters who assault people, but they move really slow and aren't very strong. However, they are very sly and usually attack in groups. You can't let your guard down.

They are extremely lustful and normally the only thing they think about is having sex with men. They wander around in search of men they can target. Once they've spotted a man, they form groups and attack in an effort to capture him. Men who have been abducted in this manner are taken off to their homes, where they are made into slaves. They're always dying to be with a man, his fate will be to have intercourse again and again. If you manage to defeat them at this point, they will recognize you as their master. They will obey you almost like slaves. However if you were to lose, they would be very oppressive. But for the victors who become masters, they change their nature completely. They will become concerned with your mood, and constantly fawn on you. But of course, there would be no change in their lustful disposition. They would seduce their master into having sex.

As described, they have a dual nature, both weak and strong, strong and weak. However, it's more like it comes from instinct than personality. If they have never known defeat, they will enjoy the pleasure of raping men, but once defeated, they become subservient to their masters, gaining the most pleasure from obeying his commands and being raped by him. Thus, their loyalty to their masters is very extreme and very real. Many of them actually enjoy being abused by their masters, and will even take their own lives if their master commands it.

Skeleton

Golem Family

Undead Type

Habitat.....Graveyard

Disposition.....Simple, Emotionless

Diet.....Men's Semen

Human bones reanimated through the infusion of the Demon Lord's power. They look like a kind of undead, but actually since their body was made through the infusion of magical energy, and they are very short lived, it's a kind of golem, only made using bone as the material. Or it could be a type of ghost dwelling within the bones. That's another possible explanation. The opinions of researchers are still split. In the same way as other undead, they retain memories and thoughts from when they were still among the living, but most of them have fuzzy thoughts and a weak sense of self.

When they get hungry, instinct pushes them to wander around in search of the semen necessary to maintain their body. Once they encounter a man, they attack and take in semen through sexual intercourse. Perhaps because they are ephemeral bone constructs, they don't have much strength. A strong force can shatter their body, but no matter how many times it happens, they always come back together. Once they give chase, they tend to follow you everywhere, so it's extremely troublesome. However, once their hunger for semen has been sated, they become docile, perhaps because their thinking ability is weak. They entrust themselves to the men they like, and even begin following their orders.

Zombies and other undead type monsters can fundamentally never rise from a man's corpse; however, in the skeletons case, magical energy doesn't dwell within the body, the body itself is made up of magical energy. They are an exception, and men's bones can become monsters too. Even in that case, the body formed is still a female body. Thoughts and memories from their life as men remain, but they mostly become twisted. "When I was alive I was a woman." "When I was alive, my best friend was my lover."

There is a class of spells for manipulating the dead known as "necromancy" but if used when a powerful demon is nearby, in a dungeon filled with magical energy, or in the demon realm, it is incredibly dangerous. Upon raising a skeleton, it would be infused with magical energy and become a monster. After having just been born, she will be very hungry and will probably attack immediately.

MUMMY

Zombie Family Undead Type

Habitat.....Desert regions, ruins, ect.

Disposition.....Simple

Diet.....Men's semen

A type of undead that inhabits desert regions, ruins, ect. In the same way as the zombie, it was reanimated by the demon lord's magical energy dwelling within its body. Its personality and memories from when it was among the living remain; however, starving mummies lose their rationality and act on instinct, so they are extremely dangerous.

They are always overwhelmed with the feeling that their bodies are dried out, so they attack men in order to take in semen through sexual intercourse. After having taken in semen, their rationality and intellect increase, causing them to become temporarily docile; however, their bodies are insatiable, so they get hungry again soon. Because they continue to need a man, once caught, a man would be unlikely to be freed.

Another thing, they are also known to attack women as well, and in that case, the woman would have all the magical energy of her body sucked out, and would end up becoming a "mummy" herself. Women transformed into mummies in this way are the same as other mummies. Because of the lack of magical energy, they feel hungry, dry, and will assault men.

Furthermore, their skin is extremely weak to stimulation. Even just from being touched, they feel an extreme rush of pleasure. Upon receiving such stimulation, the pleasure would be too great, and they may become temporarily paralyzed. In order to prevent this, they cover their whole bodies in special bandages that curtail the pleasurable feelings. For that reason when you encounter a mummy, if you can undo the bandages, you can stop her from moving, and escape would then become a simple affair.

Nightmare

Centaur Family Beastman Type

Habitat.....Unknown
Disposition....Cowardly, Weak, Lustful
Diet.....Men's Semen

A type of beastman monster that has the upper body of a woman, and the lower body of a horse. It possesses high magical power, using spells to go into people's dreams while they're sleeping. It doesn't inhabit any specific type of place, and it is extremely rare to encounter one outside of a dream.

While it is a type of centaur, in the same way as the succubi, it is fueled by men's semen. When they find a man they like, they enter his dreams, appearing in the form of a voluptuous, strong-willed woman. They take in semen through intercourse. Once they have started to appear in a man's dreams, they will probably appear again every day and continue to attack him.

However, so long as one realizes he's being attacked, it would be easy to capture her. Because they approach sleeping men, all one would have to do is pretend like he's sleeping. They would approach to try and enter the dream without realizing that the man isn't asleep, and then they could be captured on the spot. In reality, they are different from the strong-willed figures that appear in the dreams. They are cowardly, timid monsters, so if they even touch a man outside of a dream, they will instantly freeze up. Given this disposition, it would be possible to tame one after having captured it.

Ant Arachne

Arachne Family Insect Type

Habitat.....Caves, Plains, Forests, ect., underground

Disposition.....Lustful, Strong-willed

Diet.....Remains of dead animals, husks, ect...

A small insect type monster of the Arachne family, it bears a remarkably close resemblance to the "Giant Ant." This mimicry serves to fool the giant ants into thinking the "Ant Arachne" is one of their own kind. The arachne take advantage of this by mixing in with giant ant groups and moving into their nests. Despite their resemblance to the giant ants, their disposition is very different, being quite ferocious in nature. Exposure to all the pheromones present in giant ant nests also makes them highly aroused and extremely lustful.

As for their diet, they feed on whatever the giant ants gather and bring back. They essentially never leave the giant ant's nest, and so it is extremely rare to encounter one above ground. They get their men needed for reproduction in the same way. When giant ants bring men back into their nests (reference the "Giant Ant" page), they steal some of the men to take back to their own beds. Unlike the giant ants, they do not work during the day. Instead, after seizing a man, they copulate with him in their bed place all day and night long.

Alice

Succubus Family Demon Type

Habitat.....Unknown

Disposition....Meek

Diet.....Men's Spiritual Energy

A type of succubus that has the form of a very young girl. They're a race that arose from sudden mutation, so there are very few of them in existence. It is extremely rare to encounter one. While they are succubus type monsters, their bodies are always in a "virginal" state. They have almost no knowledge about sex, and they aren't even aware that men's spiritual energy is what they feed on. For that reason, even though they are a kind of succubus, they never attack humans. Their disposition is that of a very young human girl, or one even more pure, and more meek.

Guided by the instinct of the succubi, they appear and seek out men. As written above, they don't attack men. They act sweet just like children, and they just want to play together, but their bodies emit a subtle charm magic. Men who spend a lot of time around them end up sexually assaulting them. They probably get their energy through such intercourse. What is unique about this is, just after having sex with a man, their body returns to a "virginal" state. They also lose all the memories of what happened. However, as they continue to have sex, their bodies grow more and more sensitive to pleasure. They store up magical energy from the energy they get from men. This is what causes their sexual techniques and charm magic to improve. They grow into more powerful succubi while eternally remaining as pure and innocent girls.

One other thing. As was the case with the original type of succubus (for details reference the succubus page), men who continue to copulate with them end up turning into "incubi." Unlike the succubus, she won't capture her man, or take him off to the demon realm. However, men who become incubi are already obsessed with them. Protecting them, and giving them energy will become their most important tasks.

Mandragora

Mandragora Family Plant Type

Habitat.....Plains, Forests

Disposition.....Timid

Diet.....Men's semen, nutrients from the earth

A plant monster in the form of a woman with roots. The parts corresponding to the roots are buried deep within the earth. They only push out the flower on their head to the surface of the ground. They wait for their prey, which is lured by the sweet fragrance released from the flower petals, to come and pull them up.

When a man uproots them, they let out shrill screams containing magical power. Those who have heard such screams will lose their ability to reason temporarily. Guided by instinct, they will probably sexually assault the mandragora before them. When a man starts fucking them, they use their roots to wrap around him so that he can't escape later. Even after the man's ability to reason returns, he probably won't be able to get away until he gives his seed. Because their screams not only affect the man who uprooted them, but also other men and monsters nearby, it is necessary to be on the look out for all those who lost their reason, turning ferocious. Of course, a man who uprooted one would also be attacked by the other nearby monsters, if present.

Furthermore, once they're uprooted and they let out their scream, they lose all their magical power, so even if they scream after that, it won't cause anyone to lose their reason. In this way, they are powerless once uprooted. Since they have extremely timid personalities, they almost never attack humans on their own.

Also, the tips of their roots are treasured as ingredients for stamina increasing drugs, aphrodisiacs, and various other powerful magic medicines. Because these parts continue to extend as they are fed, it's not uncommon for people to raise them.

During their larval stage they are buried within the earth. Absorbing nutrients from the soil, their bodies are formed. The growth of their body stops once they are pulled from the earth. For this reason, by pulling them out at earlier and earlier periods, their form appears more and more like that of a child.

Kesaran Pasaran

Mandragora Family Plant Type

Habitat.....Unknown

Disposition.....Cheerful, Meek

Diet.....Men's Semen

A plant type monster with a body covered in something like white balls of fluff. Its body is extremely light, and it moves by floating through the air. It's mature form has the shape of a human, but while developing, they are little more than tiny white balls of fluff. Because they look mysterious while dancing through the air, they are called "Kesaran Pasaran who invite happiness." If you catch one, it is said to bring about happiness.

Exactly opposite of what you might suppose from their nick name, their fluff balls are actually powerful hallucinogenic compounds that are extremely dangerous to people. If you breathe one in, your ability to think will become limited, and all you'll want to do is "feel happy." However, while they're still developing, the hallucinogenic effect is weak, and so often times it just makes you feel "a little better." That's probably how they got the nick name.

When they find a man who strikes their fancy, they descend towards him and scatter fluff in a pollen form so that he will breathe it in. Afterwards, they seek intercourse with the man for their own nourishment and to become able to make seeds. While overwhelmed by the hallucinations, the man perceives this act itself as an extension of his happiness, and instead of resisting, he offers his own body in pursuit of even more happiness. Overcome with happiness in this way, he'll end up just continuing to copulate with them.

Through having intercourse with men in this fashion, they produce their seeds. Then they wrap them in part of their fluff and send it flying through the sky. After being launched into the sky, they drift gently while growing, eventually ending up in their mature form, the shape of a human. Believing the stories about "Kesaran Pasaran who invite happiness," many men have caught them in their developing stage, and then ended up being attacked after they mature.

It's an extremely rare monster, so there aren't many reports of sightings. Since they fly around everywhere, their habitat is indistinct. According to one theory, they were originally plants in the "fairy kingdom," but nothing is known for certain.

Sphinx

Cat Family Beastman Type

Habitat.....Desert Regions

Disposition.....Selfish, Moody

Diet.....Omnivorous, prefers meat

A type of werecat that inhabits desert regions. On top of having superior physical abilities like other cat types, it also possesses great intelligence and magical power. It is charged with the task of protecting the ruins where the "pharaoh" sleeps, so it attacks any travelers who approach.

When they find a man who strikes their fancy, they put a powerful charm curse on him. The curse is put into place depending on their "questioning." If a man answers incorrectly, or finds himself unable to answer, he gets afflicted with the curse. Men charmed by the curse will probably offer up their own bodies themselves, and continue copulation with them so long as they desire. On the contrary, if a man were to answer correctly, the curse would be reflected back at the sphinx herself. But in this case too, the sphinx herself will be charmed by the man and go into a rut, which would probably result in her attacking the man and forcing intercourse in the same way as other monsters.

Furthermore, besides using it to apply the curse as written above, they also use "questioning" for other things in their daily lives. They often make decisions or judgments about things depending on the outcome. There's no compelling force as with the above-written curse, but when negotiating or having a conversation with them, it would probably be to one's advantage if he were able to answer correctly.

Also, their objective of "protecting the ruins" has been replaced with "looking for men." In the case that the travelers approaching the ruins are women, they mostly pay them no heed even if they spot them.

Anubis

Wolf Family Beastman Type

Habitat.....Ruins of Desert Regions

Disposition.....Honest, Stubborn

Diet.....Omnivorous, prefers meat

A type of wolf that lives in desert regions. As the manager of mummies, it inhabits desert regions and also serves as a soldier protecting the "Pharaoh." It has high intelligence, and the power of many curses at its disposal. It has an intellectual and very honest personality, which is rare among the wolf family.

When she finds intruders in the ruins, she attacks, and tries to capture them. In the case that she captures a man she likes, she takes him back to her home as a husband. It's her peculiar trait to exercise total control over the man who becomes her husband, down to choosing his diet, planning his daily schedule, and even sex. It's just like the relationship between a boss and a subordinate. She frequently gives orders. If he doesn't obey, he will be punished for "penal violations" by being afflicted with the "mummy curse," which changes his body to be extremely sensitive to pleasure like that of a mummy, in which case, he'll probably continue having sex with her until he passes out.

Again, even if it's a female intruder, she will be afflicted with the above mentioned "mummy curse." In the case of a woman, the effects of the curse are not temporary as they are with men. Instead, those afflicted with the curse are changed into mummies and placed under Anubis' command.

They ordinarily remain calm, but they're extremely weak when something unexpected happens. If things don't turn out the way they thought they should, they end up getting confused. If a man takes the initiative and assaults one of them, she will probably be thrown into confusion and end up going into heat and acting out to seek pleasure according to the instincts of the wolf family.

Dark Slime

Slime Family Semiliquid Type

Habitat.....Plains of the demon realm, etc

Disposition.....Lustful, Simple

Diet.....Men's semen, sweat, saliva, etc

A type of upper rank slime with a purple body that lives all throughout the demon realm. They have the power of the succubi of the demon realm stored up in their bodies, so they have much more magical power compared to the regular slimes. Also, they have a "slime core" inside their bodies. Just as the name suggests, it is their core. Because of this, compared with ordinary slimes, they have high thinking ability and are able to cast spells.

If one spots a man, she aggressively assaults him. She uses her sticky body to get him stuck, and stop him from moving. She takes in his semen and the like, through something like sexual intercourse. They are much more aggressive, and violent than ordinary slimes as well, so they are much more dangerous monsters. Also, be aware that they use the magic stored up in their bodies to cast charm spells.

Just as in the slime, they reproduce through division (reference the slime page). Also, they possess the ability to convert human females into dark slimes the same as themselves. When one spots a woman, it will attack her, and envelop the entire woman in its body. After the enveloped woman constantly gets pleased by the slime, she turns into a "slime core." The slime cores produced in this manner make new bodies based on their former human shapes, and are reborn as new dark slimes. Even after becoming a dark slime, they retain their knowledge and memories from when they were human, but their bodies and minds have been melted by the pleasure given by the slime. Their thought process is no longer human, instead being changed into that of a dark slime which seeks men's semen.

Furthermore, the "slime core" is also their weak point. The core is extremely sensitive to external stimulation, and just from being touched, the pleasure is so overwhelming that they become unable to move.
